Where this handbook and a numbered procedure (ONB-01 to ONB-07) disagree, the procedure wins.

1. Welcome

Welcome to Al Dana. We have been looking after maintenance, engineering and HSE (Health, Safety & Environment) work for energy and industrial clients since 2009, and we are about a hundred people across the head office in West Bay and our two sites. You have joined a team that is small enough for you to know everybody within a few months, and that is one of the things we like about it.

This handbook is a friendly overview of your first weeks. It is not the rulebook. The detailed steps (documents, medical fitness, bank account, IT, HSE induction, probation) live in seven short procedures called ONB-01 to ONB-07, and those are the documents to follow if you need the exact step. A few of the answers in this handbook depend on who you are: whether you are arriving from abroad (an Overseas hire), already living in Qatar (a Resident hire) or a Qatari national, and whether you work at head office or on a site. Your HR record already says which one you are.

Your manager and a buddy (a colleague who joined earlier and volunteered to answer the small questions) are named in your welcome email. Use them. Nobody expects you to know where the printer is.

> Order of authority. If two documents disagree, follow this order: 1. Procedure (ONB-xx), 2. this Handbook, 3. the intranet FAQ. Superseded documents kept in the archive folder are for history only and must not be used. The document register lists the current version of everything.

2. Who is who

Al Dana is organised in nine departments. Each is led by a head of department who reports to the Chief Executive Officer, Lakshmi Varma. You will meet most of them in your first month.

Department	Head	What they do
Operations & Maintenance	Asif Raza	Maintenance crews and operations at our two sites and head office
Engineering	Khalid Darwish	Design, reliability and technical support
Health, Safety & Environment	Hamza Hussain	Inductions, audits, incident follow-up
Finance	Sita Karki	Accounting, budgets, payroll
Human Resources	Mark Hughes	Recruitment, contracts, onboarding, PRO desk
Information Technology	Asif Chaudhry	Accounts, devices, systems (PeopleHub, TalentTrack, LearnDesk)
Sales & Business Development	Jassim Taha	Clients and tenders
Procurement & Supply Chain	Sanjay Sharma	Purchasing, suppliers, stores
Legal & Compliance	Aisha Idris	Contracts, compliance, company secretarial

Where we work. Doha HQ is the head office in West Bay. Mesaieed Site (Mesaieed Industrial City) and Ras Laffan Site (Ras Laffan Industrial City) each have a site office and workshops. Most office roles sit at HQ; most maintenance, operations and HSE inspection roles sit on a site. Where you sit changes a few things in your first week, mainly IT equipment and your HSE induction.

PeopleHub is our HR system: your record, leave requests and payslips. LearnDesk holds training courses. Your account is created by IT before your start date (see ONB-05).

3. Grades, and what depends on who you are

Every role has a grade from G1 to G10. G1 to G3 are operational and skilled roles, G4 to G6 professional roles, G7 and G8 managers, G9 directors and heads of division, and G10 the CEO. Your grade matters for a few practical things, for instance whether you are issued a laptop on site (G4 and above) or use a shared site terminal (G1 to G3).

Three questions decide most of what happens in your first weeks, and your HR record answers all three:

	Overseas hire	Resident hire	Qatari national
Who you are	Arriving from abroad	Already living in Qatar	Citizen
Pre-arrival visa paperwork	Yes, PRO handles it	No	No
Medical fitness test	Yes, in week 1	Yes, in week 1	No
QID / residence permit steps	New application by PRO	PRO updates your details to Al Dana	No
Temporary accommodation	14 nights	No	No

The second question is where you sit: Doha HQ, Mesaieed Site or Ras Laffan Site. Site staff do the full HSE induction on day one and collect any equipment from the site IT desk. HQ staff do a shorter online induction and collect from the IT room at HQ. The third is your grade, as above.

4. Working hours

Our working week is Sunday to Thursday. Friday and Saturday are the weekend. Public holidays are announced by HR each year and posted on the intranet.

Where	Normal hours	Ramadan hours
Doha HQ	07:30 to 16:00 (8 working hours plus a 30-minute break)	09:00 to 15:00 (6 hours a day)
Mesaieed Site and Ras Laffan Site	06:00 to 14:30 (8 working hours plus a 30-minute break)	07:00 to 13:00 (6 hours a day)

These schedules stay inside the national limits: normal working time is 8 hours a day and 48 hours a week, and 6 hours a day and 36 hours a week during Ramadan. Overtime on site is only worked when your supervisor has approved it in advance. Your first day starts a little later than the shift start, so HR can meet you: 08:00 at HQ, 06:30 on site (details in ONB-02).

5. Leave basics

Annual leave builds up from your start date at 2 working days for every month of service, which is 24 working days a year. That is more than the legal minimum, and we would like you to use it. You can request leave in PeopleHub once you have completed three months of service. Earlier requests need your manager and HR to agree, and we say yes to weddings, family emergencies and pre-booked flights from before you joined. Tell your manager early.

Public holidays are not deducted from your leave balance. Sick leave, compassionate leave, Hajj leave and other leave types are covered by the Leave Policy (HR-POL-04) on the intranet; this handbook does not repeat them. If you are unwell on a working day, call your manager before your shift starts and tell HR the same day.

6. Dress and conduct

At HQ we dress business-smart. Thursday is smart-casual. Clothes should be modest and respectful of local culture; the same goes for visitors you bring to the building. On site your uniform and the required PPE (Personal Protective Equipment: safety helmet, safety shoes, high-visibility vest, safety glasses and gloves where the task needs them) are issued to you, and you wear them whenever you are outside the site office. No PPE, no site access. There are no exceptions for visitors, managers or the CEO.

Beyond clothes, the basics are what you would expect. Treat colleagues, clients and contractors with respect. Keep client and company information confidential, including after you leave. Do not accept gifts from suppliers or clients above a small token without telling Legal & Compliance. Personal data of colleagues and candidates (home addresses, ID copies, salaries) is protected by Qatar's personal data privacy law and by our own rules: see only what your job needs, and never forward it to your personal email. Use social media sensibly and do not post photos taken on a client site.

7. IT and keeping information safe

You will get an Al Dana email address and a PeopleHub login. You will also be asked to set up multi-factor authentication (a second check, usually a code on your phone, on top of your password) on your first day. Do not share your password, not even with IT; they will never ask for it. Lock your screen when you step away. Company files stay on company systems and do not go to personal email, personal cloud storage or messaging groups. If you lose a laptop, phone or ID card, or you click something you should not have, tell the IT Helpdesk at once. A fast report costs us an hour; a slow one can cost us a client.

On site, photographs and video are not allowed in process areas unless HSE has said otherwise. This protects the clients' plants as much as it protects us.

8. Speaking up

We expect a respectful workplace. Harassment, bullying and discrimination are not tolerated, whoever is doing it and whoever is on the receiving end. If something is bothering you, talk to your manager, your HR Business Partner or the HR Manager. If it is your manager that worries you, go straight to HR. Concerns raised in good faith are treated in confidence and nobody is penalised for raising them. The same applies to safety, ethics and financial concerns, which can also go to Legal & Compliance.

9. Benefits overview

Your contract is the final word on your package; this is the general picture.

- Salary is paid monthly by bank transfer into your own bank account, through the Wage Protection System (WPS). New joiners should read ONB-04 to see when the first salary arrives, because it depends on your start date.
- Group medical insurance starts from your start date. The card normally follows within a few weeks (ONB-03).
- Overseas hires get airport pick-up and 14 nights of company temporary accommodation on arrival, so there is time to find a place to live. A leave air ticket for non-Qatari employees is described in the contract.
- End-of-service gratuity is calculated according to the Labour Law and your contract. HR can give you a figure when you ask.
- Training through LearnDesk, including HSE courses, and a learning budget agreed with your manager.

10. Safety first

We work in plants where a small mistake can hurt somebody. Safety is the first thing we teach and the only area where we allow the word "stop" to override anybody's instruction.

- The HSE induction is mandatory. Site-based staff complete the full induction on their first working day and may not go beyond the site office until it is signed off. Head-office staff complete a shorter online induction in their first week. Details are in ONB-06.
- Stop-work authority. Anyone, at any grade, can stop a job they think is unsafe. Nobody will be criticised for using it in good faith.
- Permit to work. Hot work, confined space entry, work at height and electrical isolation need a signed permit before the job starts.
- Report everything: incidents, near misses and unsafe conditions. Tell your supervisor and the HSE desk the same shift.
- Emergencies. In a life-threatening emergency call 999. Then call the Al Dana 24-hour HSE hotline, extension 5000. Learn your muster point (the assembly area) during the induction.

12. Your first 90 days

Probation at Al Dana lasts six months. The first ninety days are where most of the settling-in happens, so we plan them. Full detail is in ONB-07; this is the outline.

When	What should have happened
Before you start	Contract signed, documents sent, IT account created, first-day plan in your inbox (ONB-01)
Day 1 to 5	Welcome, ID card, laptop (if your role has one), HSE induction, meet your buddy, agree probation objectives with your manager
Weeks 2 to 4	Medical fitness test and QID steps for overseas and resident hires; bank details with Payroll; first one-to-ones
Day 30, 60 and 90	Short check-in with your manager, written in PeopleHub; adjust objectives and agree training
Month 5	Final probation review, so that a decision is not left to the last week

13. Which document do I read?

Doc	Read it when you want to know
ONB-01 Before You Arrive	Which documents to send HR, by employee type
ONB-02 First Day and ID Card	Where and when to report, what is issued on day one
ONB-03 Medical Fitness and Health Insurance	The medical test, insurance card
ONB-04 Payroll, Bank Account and WPS	Bank details and when you are first paid
ONB-05 IT Access and Equipment	Account, laptop, passwords, office versus site
ONB-06 HSE Induction	What the induction is and when you must do it
ONB-07 Probation and First 90 Days	Objectives, check-ins, probation review
New Hire FAQ (intranet)	Quick informal answers; the procedure wins if they differ

Not everything is written down. If you cannot find an answer, ask HR (hr.onboarding@aldana-group.example, extension 2200) instead of guessing. We would rather answer the same question ten times than have you work around a rule you did not know about.
